THINGS TO KNOW

NIKKI M. MASCALL, REPORTER

When I was coming of age in the late-'80s, the ceramics craze that struck the generation before mine was drying out, but I've always been fascinated by the ancient craft (yes, especially after seeing "Ghost"). Luckily, I can see what I missed as a kid as ceramics are back in a big way — and will get even bigger this October when BKLYN Clay fires up its kilns for hundreds of members in its forthcoming flagship studio. ALEX JONES DROPPED

Apple Inc., Alphabet Inc.'s YouTube, Facebook Inc. and Spotify all took down podcasts and channels from U.S. conspiracy theorist Alex Jones, saying on Monday that the Infowars author had broken community standards. The sweeping moves are the broadest actions yet by internet companies that previously have suspended or removed some of the conspiracy-driven content produced by Infowars. Since founding Infowars in 1999, Jones has built a vast audience. Among the theories he has promoted is that the Sept. 11, 2001, attacks on New York and Washington were staged by the government. Facebook said it removed Alex Jones pages "for glorifying violence, which violates our graphic violence policy, and using dehumanizing language to describe people who are transgender, Muslims and immigrants, which violates our hate speech policies." The Infowars app remained available on the app stores hosted by Apple and Alphabet's Google Play, however, while Twitter Inc. said that Infowars accounts were not currently in violation of its rules.

STAR WITNESS ADMITS TO CRIMES WITH MANAFORT

Rick Gates, a longtime business associate of President Donald Trump's former campaign chairman Paul Manafort, on Monday testified at trial that he helped Manafort file false tax returns and did not disclose foreign bank accounts. Gates was expected to be a star witness in the government's case against Manafort, having pleaded guilty in February, and agreed to cooperate with prosecutors under a deal that could lead to a reduced sentence. "We did not submit the required form designating he had control over an offshore account," Gates told the jury in federal court in Alexandria, Virginia, on the fifth day of the trial. When prosecutor Greg Andres asked why, Gates replied: "At Mr. Manafort's direction." Gates also testified he and Manafort knew it was a crime because they had been notified by Manafort's accountants in emails. Manafort's attorneys have signaled they will seek to blame Gates and have accused him of embezzling millions of dollars from Manafort. Gates and Manafort have known each other for two decades and ran a multimillion-dollar political consulting business.

UBER AND LYFT DRIVERS RALLY IN FAVOR OF CAP FOR RIDE-HAILING CARS

For-hire drivers and their supporters rally in favor of proposed New York City legislation that would put a cap on ride-hailing vehicles on Monday. The rally was held outside the headquarters of the New York City Taxi and Limousine Commission, which also houses offices of Uber and Lyft. City Council is set to consider legislation this week that would cap ride-hailing vehicles in the city and set a minimum pay rate for drivers. If passed, the legislation would make New York City the first major American city to set a limit on ride-hailing vehicles.

TWO PEOPLE HIT, KILLED
BY LIRR TRAINS: MTA

Two people were struck and killed by Long Island Rail Road trains Monday morning, officials said, disrupting LIRR service system-wide. The first incident occurred when a person on the tracks was struck by a train near Hicksville Station around 4 a.m. Monday, according to the MTA, leading to a temporary suspension of LIRR service on the Ronkonkoma Branch. Another person was hit shortly after, around 4:45 a.m., by a different train on the tracks near Woodside, leading to an LIRR service suspension between Penn Station and Jamaica. Both people were struck by non-passenger trains, meaning no customers were on board at the time, per the MTA. An MTA official did not immediately have information on the deceased's genders or age. MTA Police are investigating both situations. The incidents led to several canceled and delayed LIRR trains during the Monday morning commute. As of around 7 a.m., the tracks had been cleared, and as of 9:30, the LIRR is operating with "scattered residual delays" of about 10 to 15 minutes.

AT LEAST 40 SHOT, 4 KILLED
IN CHICAGO GUN VIOLENCE

At least 40 people were shot in Chicago between midnight Saturday and early Sunday morning, with four fatalities, city police said Sunday, a stark violent streak in a city where authorities say gun violence has been decreasing this year. "These were both random and targeted shootings on our streets," said Fred Waller, chief of the patrol division of the Chicago Police Department, in a press conference. He said most of the shootings are connected to gang violence in the city of about 2.7 million people, the third-largest in the United States.

Police said gunmen targeted a block party, a gathering after a funeral, and other gatherings on a night where thousands of people gathered for a downtown concert. Local media reported that the brunt of the violence happened in the city's West Side, where 25 people were shot in separate attacks. Waller touted that shootings in 2018 were down from last year. The Chicago Tribune, which has been tracking shooting statistics, reported earlier this month that shootings in the city have declined, with 533 fewer shootings as of Aug. 1 than the same time in 2017.

Chicago, home to deep-dish pizza, will also be home to the U.S. Pizza Museum. GETTY IMAGES

One large slice of WTF: US Pizza Museum to open in Chicago, not NYC

The battle between the New York City style slice and Chicago's deep dish pie is heating up in the wake of news about the U.S. Pizza Museum's location.

KRISTIN TOUSSAINT
kristin.toussaint@metro.us

It's a debate as old as time itself: Which is better, New York-style pizza or Chicago deep dish? Now, the food feud is heating up with the announcement that the U.S. Pizza Museum is apparently picking sides by setting up shop in the Windy City.

The U.S. Pizza Museum is set to open Aug. 10 at the Roosevelt Collection, a group of shops in the city's South Loop neighborhood. The pizza museum's mission, per its website, is to "inspire curiosity and new ways of thinking about the rich history and recent developments in the world of pizza by collecting, preserving, interpreting, and exhibiting pizza-related items."

But does Chicago deserve to be home to the U.S. Pizza Museum? Those who prefer a New York slice don't think so. "What is this I hear about putting a pizza museum in Chicago?" one person tweeted. "Sorry yeah no not gonna work for me. Everyone knows New York is the better location."

"The first pizzeria in the US was Lombardi's in NYC," said another. "Hence, the pizza museum belongs in NYC. No question about it."

Others just disputed that a pizza museum even needs to exist, instead saying New York City pizza overall is a better homage to the dish than a museum could ever be.

"There is already a Pizza Museum it's called New York City," tweeted one person. "Of course the museum has to go there," tweeted another about Chicago. "That's where pizza went to die. It's still alive & well in New York."

Still, others across the internet disagreed even further, suggesting instead an impartial location, free from the history of the New York-Chicago sauce-laden squabble.

"Look, for the sake of social peace I'm willing to suspend fact, logic, and morality and call Chicago casseroles 'pizza,'" tweeted Los Angeles Times columnist Jonah Goldberg. "But putting the Pizza Museum in Chicago is like putting the pastrami museum in Riyadh. At least pick neutral ground."

But what exactly is a pizza museum anyway?

The U.S. Pizza Museum has been around since 2015, but mostly just as an online pizza experience or as a pop-up exhibit. Now, with its location in Chicago officially announced, it'll be in the land of deep dish through October, per the Chicago Tribune, and possibly even longer.

The museum will be free to attend and include a gift shop stocked with pizza-themed clothes, menus, records and toys.

But don't fret completely, New Yorkers, for a pizza museum of another slice is still coming to NYC.

The Museum of Pizza, which bills itself as the "world's first and only immersive art experience celebrating pizza," will pop up in NoHo from Oct. 13 to 28. Activities there will include pizza and film screenings, and though it's not free, a slice is included in the ticket price. How do you like them pies, Chicago?

NYC Doctors Urge Back Pain Sufferers

Read This Before Having Surgery or Using Opioid Drugs

Modern Treatment stands to free thousands of New York Area pain sufferers from reduced mobility, stress and poor quality of life. Treatment may help avoid surgery or overuse of dangerous medication

NEW YORK CITY - If you are interested in relieving back pain or neck pain, getting back to basic daily activities without discomfort and having more energy, than this this will be the most exciting message you ever read.

Here is why:

There is a medical clinic in New York City called NYC Pain MD. Actually two of them... in different parts of the city. I'm not sure... but if I'm right... you may want to call them after reading this. If so, their phone number 877-278-8980.

Here's What This Is All About

The doctors at NYC Pain MD have made a discovery of sorts. It's not a discovery as in they invented something brand new. It's a discovery about when and how they apply certain back pain treatments... that they have fine tuned... and perfected to get better results than they ever thought possible.

Countless patients are living proof. And check this out: What NYC Pain MD doc's actually use is called an "algorithm"... a special step-by-step formula starting with proper evaluation so you make sure to leap frog or bypass treatments that won't work... and find the ones that will work best for you in a little time as possible. Less trial and failure means better quicker results for the pain sufferer.

Now, you may have even heard about many these treatments. But here's one I bet you may have never heard of... that might help you... and it's not an "epidural".

This treatment is called:

"Radiofrequency Neurotomy." RF for short. RF is a procedure that is based on the theory that blocking the nerve supply to the painful area may alleviate pain and restore function.

There are many nerves around your back or neck and one of their jobs is to sense PAIN.

Radiofrequency waves are delivered to these nerves under advanced precision medical imaging to target the damaged areas... done right in their own clinic without intimidating, expensive hospitals or surgical center... to "block" the painful nerve flow.

Two steps in the formula are performed. First, a test or diagnostic "Block" procedure is done to determine if the procedure is going to decrease pain and improve function. If this first "test" procedure is successful, RF Neurotomy or "Radiofrequency" will be performed for longer term relief.

NOT just the Treatment alone that is the key ingredient

You see, the real secret is the formula. And that again starts with a proper screening evaluation to determine if you are a good candidate and may achieve the results you are looking forward to. This is always Step number one.

And the best part about this screening is... It's FREE

This screening will give you so much relief just knowing what is going on... and what your best options are.

That's right. NYC Pain MD offers this first step screening at no cost to patients. The only problem is... they often get over 100 inquiries a day as they also treat almost every painful area and joint. Sometimes its hard to get through. If you don't get through to someone when you call... keep calling... or leave a message... it will be well worth it.

But that's just the first step

After your free screening, if you qualify, the doctors will discuss the best treatment plan for you in a way that you can understand completely. Not all complex "doctor talk"...

This may be one... or a combination of the advanced medical treatments offered at NYC Pain MD.

Everything will be explained and all your questions will be answered. And even better:

You will be given all this At NO COST. NYC Pain MD doc's are not like used car salesman. They will not be giving you a sales pitch. They are doctors and will give you the best possible options to help your pain and offer to help you the best way they can. In fact, with up to 100 inquiries a day from patient's looking for relief, it's often hard to even get a treatment spot.

You should also know this: While NYC Pain MD cannot help everyone... so many have gotten the pain relief they were looking for.

New Techniques May Replace Medications Or Even Surgery: Innovative treatment is now available at NYC Pain MD. Many are seeing dramatic relief for the first time.

One of the reasons they offer those first step free screenings, is because it has opened the door to so many people to get help that they never would have otherwise.

At the very least, you will finally have some direction and a plan. And... whether you have the best, worst or no insurance at all, NYC Pain MD programs can be made affordable to everyone

They do not want insurance issues... or not being rich or famous... to keep you away if you are suffering in pain.

There is a whole lot more I could say about their treatments etc... but this space is limited and that's best left for you and the doctors to discuss in person.

So...if you are even remotely interested ... take the a first step and give them a call at 877-278-8980 and ask for your free screening.

How To Schedule Your Risk-Free No-Obligation Screening Evaluation

When you call, tell the scheduling experts you are calling for the special "No Obligation Back Pain Screening Program". They will know exactly what you need to do and will find the next available and convenient spot in our in our schedule. So again, just call 877-278-8980. The lines get very busy so if you do not get a live scheduling coordinator, make sure to leave your name, number and time of your call on our voicemail. They will get back to you as soon as possible. Again, the number to call is 877-278-8980.

BKLYN Clay fires up a new age of ceramics

Ceramics are not a now-nostalgic craze of the '70s, they're alive and well and will be accessible 24/7/365 thanks to BKLYN Clay's forthcoming studio.

NIKKI M. MASCALI
nikki.mascali@metro.us

If you think ceramics are a now-nostalgic craze of the 1970s, you should think again. Ceramics are back in a big way — and they're going to get a lot bigger when BKLYN Clay opens its flagship studio in Brooklyn this fall.

After its first iteration in Sunset Park, BKLYN Clay will open a 5,260-square-foot studio at 535 Carlton in Pacific Park on Oct. 1 to offer members of all skill levels access to state-of-the-art equipment, workshops, drop-in classes

BKLYN Clay will open a 5,260-square-foot studio at 535 Carlton on Oct. 1 to offer members of all skill levels access to state-of-the-art equipment, workshops, drop-in classes and more. PIXABY and more — 24/7/365.

"It sort of falls in the category of WeWork for the creative arts, where people, especially in New York, can't really have studio space," founder Jennifer Waverek said. "You get to this place where with ceramics studios where there are very limited hours and times you can work. This is a great resource for people who are just playing with it or toying with it or using it as therapy to take one class — or people who are artists and want to incorporate ceramics into their work. We're trying to address the whole spectrum of clay worker, and it creates this beautiful community."

BKLYN Clay's studio will be on the ground level of 535 Carlton and will have room for 200 members, "and we have over 200 people on our waitlist," Waverek added.

While members run the gamut from kids to seniors, Waverek found

EXCLUSIVE

5 Other creative classes you can take in NYC

Ceramics classes like those BKLYN Clay will offer when it opens its new studio this fall aren't the only creative classes New Yorkers can take. Here's a sampling of some other unique offerings:

• Watchmaking

Wondering how your mechanical watch works? There's been a class for that since the '50s thanks to the Horological Society of New York. Students can disassemble and reassemble a watch, learn the science behind watchmaking and more.

• Glassblowing

At Brooklyn Glass, students can take one-day, weekend or multiweek classes in everything from glassblowing and flameworking to making neon letters.

• Trapeze

At the Trapeze School New York, students can sail through the air on a trapeze, twirl on silks, learn acrobatics, bounce on a trampoline and more.

• Ax-throwing

If you feel like throwing something, there are places where you can actually throw an ax in New York — without, you know, getting in a lot of trouble. Check out Kick Axe Throwing in Gowanus and Gotham Archery.

• Confetti celebration

Need to remember there's still much to celebrate during life in these times of strife? Enter the Confetti Project's 10-minute photoshoots in which participants are doused with confetti. Try not smiling, we dare you.

that BKLYN Clay "really manages to hit this young group of people discovering ceramics and entering this new era of ceramics."

The Sept. 29 music fest's goal is to eliminate world poverty by 2030.

NIKKI M. MASCALI
nikki.mascali@metro.us

It may be called the Global Citizen Festival, but it's going to welcome locally bred performer Cardi B to its stage on Central Park's Great Lawn this year.

It appears the Sept. 29 show will be the rapper's first since she gave birth to her daughter last month.

Joining Cardi B in this year's Global Citizen Festival lineup will be Janet Jackson, The Weeknd, Shawn Mendes and Janelle Monáe, with John Legend popping in for a special guest performance. Hugh Jackman and his wife Deborra-lee Furness will again serve as hosts, and additional guests and hosts will be announced in the coming weeks.

While the Global Citizen Festival promises to offer an unforgettable night of music from Cardi B, Ms. Jackson and the rest of the lineup, music is not all that the free event is about. In fact, it has a very important mission: to end extreme poverty for millions around the world by 2030.

This year's Global Citizen Festival is a continuation of the organization's "Mandela 100" campaign, which features a series of activist-driven events across the globe to honor the life and legacy of Nelson Mandela. The South African civil rights leader would have turned 100 this year, and the Global Citizen Festival aims to answer his call to be the generation that ends extreme poverty.

The organization also calls on music fans to implore world leaders to end child marriage, address the maternal health crisis, reduce plastics use and provide quality education for all. It also urges Congress to not support the Trump administration's proposed cuts to American aid programs.

How to get tickets to Global Citizen Festival

Dying to see Cardi B and the rest of the performers at Global Citizen Festival next month? You'll be glad to know that the Sept. 29 show is free — but you will need tickets.

You can earn them by joining the movement at gblctzn.me/nyc2018 or by downloading the Global Citizen app. Ticket draws will take place throughout the summer, and attendees will be notified by the organization when they've been selected.

If you can't attend, you can watch a live simulcast of

Doctors Urge Knee Pain Sufferers

“Don’t Get ANY Surgery Until You See This...”

After Years Of Intense Study, NYC Medical Clinic Finally Reveals It’s Best “Treatment Formula” For Helping Knee Arthritis Sufferers... Especially When So Many Other Treatments Have Failed

NEW YORK CITY - If you are even remotely interested in discovering how the latest scientific discoveries can possibly help your knee pain... then this is going to be the most exciting information you ever read.

Here is why: Knee pain can not only be brutal... it’s complex. In other words, it’s not a simple, easy fix.

But I’m sure you already know that. Or you wouldn’t be reading this.

That’s the bad news.

Now for some good news...

Over the years, NYC Pain MD has treated countless knee pain sufferers. And in that time have been able to constantly improve.

And we have come up with a treatment formula that we have found works best and helps the most patients.

This formula has reduced or even eliminated the pain in many. Some were scheduled for knee replacement surgery and felt good enough to cancel their surgery.

It’s amazing when patients who were once in excruciating pain... start feeling better. And start walking again. And playing golf. Or tennis. And finally getting their lives back.

Especially when they had gone to other doctors and tried so many other things.

So many had given up hope.

Sound familiar? If it does... check this out...

The Treatment Formula

While I can’t give you the entire treatment formula here (there is not enough space and WAY too complicated) I can give you the basics. And more important... I can tell you what it might be able to do for YOU.

The first and most important part of the formula is: PATIENT SELECTION.

This means, NYC Pain MD has a detailed screening process to tell who is most likely to be helped by their treatments... and who is not.

If you qualify, you have the opportunity to move forward and experience the worldclass treatments that NYC Pain MD offers.

If you do not, NYC Pain MD will tell you what they think your best options are and help you find the right doctor for you.

NYC Pain MD “Treatment Formula” A protocol of advanced medical treatments that has already helped thousands.

If you qualify, NYC Pain MD offers some of the most advanced medical treatments available today all using the most advanced imaging technology including:

- Viscosupplementation (gel injections)
- Platelet Rich Plasma (PRP)
- Stem Cell Therapy (Lipogems)
- Genicular Knee Block
- And more.

Once again, there is not enough space to go into detail about all these procedures... but here are some things you MUST KNOW...

Viscosupplementation is where a doctor introduces a gel-like medicine directly into the joint space. This helps to lubricate the joints often relieving some, most or even all of your pain. Results can last for 6 months to several years.

Many have had these treatments without good results. However, NYC Pain MD feels this is because doctors often do these “gel injections” without advanced imaging to guide them. Research shows they will often miss the joint. If the joint is missed... it is impossible for the treatment to work.

NYC Pain MD has spared no expense and used advanced imaging to guide the injections assuring the medicine gets into the joint. We frequently get results when this treatment was a failure done elsewhere.

The second thing you must know is... our treatment plans are custom made for every patient. And we have all these treatments offered in the same place. Many times you will get the best results from multiple treatments. At NYC Pain MD your doctors will all be there and will all know each other and you and your case. They work together and give you the best treatments and care without you having to go anywhere else.

The ability to select the right patients and then have the potential to give them any or all of these treatments... with all the necessary medical technology... under one roof... has allowed NYC Pain MD to get better results than they thought possible.

Here’s What You Should Do Next

If you suffer with knee pain... and any of this made sense to you... NYC Pain MD would like to offer you a No-cost screening. That screening is the first step in our “Treatment Formula.”

You will get to see a doctor and ask any questions you have. Your doctor will take the first steps to see if you qualify for treatments and give you recommendations.

The best thing is... you will finally get direction. You will know what’s going on and what is your best course of action... step-by-step. The treatments will be explained in detail and you will breathe a big sigh of relief finally knowing what’s going on and what can or cannot be done.

There is so much we want to say to help you... but I’m out of space. Give us a call at 877-296-6310 and take the first step. That step is free without obligation.

Ways to save on concert tickets

NerdWallet is a personal finance website.

A standing-room only pit ticket to one of Taylor Swift's June concerts at Soldier Field in Chicago could cost you $895. Some would say that's a high price to pay to see songs from "Reputation" performed live.

Before you drop a few hundred (or thousand) dollars on concert tickets, here are seven ways to save money on a live show.

1. Sit near the back
You won't have the best view, but you'll still hear the music. In general, a seat farther back at a concert costs less than sitting in the first row. Take a look at the price for nosebleed seats before you dish out more for the front section.

2. Buy from a reseller
Check out resale tickets from verified secondary sellers and ticket-resale brokers — which can be offered at a better price and with a guarantee, according to Gary Adler, executive director and counsel of the National Association of Ticket Brokers (NATB), a nonprofit trade group and a member of the Council of Better Business Bureau's National Partner program.

When in doubt, check a broker on VerifiedTicketSource.com to see if it's an NATB member. Adler says members provide a 200% money-back guarantee if tickets aren't delivered as specified.

Other resale options include ticket search engines or marketplaces, such as SeatGeek and StubHub, which are platforms for buying and selling tickets. Look for a guarantee at these sites as well.

Avoid potentially untrustworthy purchases, such as from an ad on Craigslist or someone on the street. "I really don't like when people buy tickets outside of a venue," Adler says. "I think that's a really bad move."

3. Wait until the last minute

While concert ticket prices are unpredictable, in some cases prices could drop as the performance approaches, says Chris Leyden, communications manager at SeatGeek.

Leyden says he once saw discounted same-day tickets on SeatGeek to a Miranda Lambert concert in Newark, New Jersey. "There were floor tickets for less than $10 because the concert was starting in less than two hours, it was a snowy day and people didn't want to travel," he says.

4. Skip town
Ticket prices can vary depending on the location of the concert — even for the same artist and the same tour, Leyden says. Compare prices at concert venues to find lower prices.

5. Sit solo
When searching resale options, you'll generally see better deals on single tickets, says Jessica Erskine, a spokesperson for StubHub.

"Often someone might buy tickets in threes or fours and have one friend who can't make it, and they're trying to sell that one ticket," Erskine says. "It's so hard to find someone who's willing to go to a show as a single guest that often you can find single-price tickets at lower prices."

6. Attend shows at the fair
OK, maybe Taylor Swift still isn't in your budget. If you're not picky about who you want to see live, check the fair circuit. Some county fairs grant free admission to a concert along with paid entry to the fair, which usually costs less than a concert ticket.

7. Earn cash back
Use cash-back websites like Ebates and BeFrugal, where you can earn money on purchases at select ticketing websites. For example, Ebates is offering up to 5% back at Ticketmaster. And for those trekking to out-of-town venues, luxury cash-back site Jewel, for example, offers money back on select travel. To earn cash back, become a member of the site and visit the portal before you make your purchase.

What gives local small stores and newsstands the right to hold back my change if it's a penny? I buy the same magazine every week, costing $1.99, at the same newsstand. Most weeks, I am not offered the penny change before leaving, depending on the

THE SIDEWALK "TWO-STEP"
We've all done the sidewalk "two-step": You're walking on the sidewalk and someone is walking toward you and we both do the two-step to avoid walking into each other. I figure the rule of thumb, in the USA anyway, is to stay to the right just as you would if you were driving down the street, we stay to the right. So when walking down the sidewalk if we all just stay to the right we could avoid the awkward two-step. The escalator is another issue. In Europe there are signs posted to be read while your on the escalator "standing stay to the right and walking/

Taurus Keep your life simple and your relationships honest and straightforward. Making matters more complicated will slow you down and lead to waste and disappointment.

Gemini Compromise may not turn out well for both parties. Use your intelligence and only give back what you receive. It's up to you not to let anyone take advantage of you.

Cancer Know who you are dealing with before you get involved. Do your research before you make a promise to someone who may have ulterior motives.

Leo Kick back and relax. You deserve a break. Don't feel pressured to keep up or give in to someone's pestering. A moment to yourself will get you back on track.

Virgo Keep a close watch on how others react. A partnership will undergo an emotional change due to someone's indiscretion. Be prepared to make a lifestyle change.

Libra Personal improvements are favored. Whether you fix up your living space or focus on physical improvements that will lift your spirits, the changes will make a difference.

Scorpio Focus on what you enjoy doing and people with whom you have much in common. Avoid conflict or anyone trying to manipulate you to do things you don't want to do.

Sagittarius Share your feelings with a partner or someone you want to spend more time with. Make your intentions and expectations known. Honesty will help you reach an agreement.

Capricorn You may be eager to make personal changes, but without the approval of those you feel responsible for, it will be difficult to move forward. Make a passionate appeal for your cause.

Aquarius Be open about your plans and keep moving forward. Listen to suggestions, but don't get in over your head. Moderation and practicality will lead to success.

Pisces Look over contracts, financial papers and medical records for clues that will help you put an end to waste. A novel plan will encourage practical applications. EUGENIA LAST

For the second year in a row, the best beer in all of New York state comes from Brooklyn's Threes Brewing.

eva.kis@metro.us

Forget trendy IPAs and lagers — the best craft beer in New York state is a funky Belgian-style beauty from Threes Brewing, which took top honors for a second year in a row at the 2018 New York State Craft Beer Competition.

Threes Brewing's farmhouse-style grisette Passing Time came out on top among 120 New York state breweries that submitted a total of 642 beers. The brews were judged by a 43-person panel in a blind taste test. The only criteria was that the beers must use at least 20% New York state-grown hops and other ingredients.

Threes Brewing's garden in Gowanus is the ideal setting for the summer brew. MATT FURMAN

The victory came as a genuine surprise to Josh Stylman, co-founder of Threes Brewing in Gowanus. "First to get recognized among such an incredible peer group in New York State right now, it's really, really gratifying on its own and humbling," says Stylman. "And then to be recognized for a style like this one is frankly a bit surprising but quite pleasing."

The origins of Passing Time couldn't be more humble. Before there was a Threes Brewery, when it was just a home brewing operation, the first-ever beer Stylman and his team created was called, simply, Table Beer. "It's kind of like a table wine: pretty easy to drink, it's our most inexpensive beer, it's meant to be paired with food," he explains.

That beer gets turned into Passing Time by going into stainless steel tanks for six weeks (on top of the two weeks it takes to ferment Table Beer) with a blend of wild yeasts and souring bacteria. "It gets a little bit funkier in a good way, in the way cheeses can be funky," he explains.

Though a grisette in style — like a European saison, refreshing, dry and smooth — Passing Time also has some of the characteristics of sour beers, with a slight tartness and subtle citrusy bite, and clocks in at a summer-friendly 4.5% ABV.

"We all kind of flipped out when we tasted it," recalls Stylman when the first batch came out of the barrels about a year ago. "It speaks in many ways to what we try to do as a brewery, which is to create these fixed things that become a little bit iconic in our own little world, and then constantly try to reinvent ourselves."

The only prize that comes with the title is the Governor's Excelsior Cup, which is on display inside the Gowanus taproom and restaurant at 333 Douglass St. For a fun experiment, try tasting Passing Time alongside Table Beer: "You realize it's familiar, but you wouldn't realize necessarily that it starts as the same beer."

Passing Time is on tap now in Gowanus and the week of Aug. 13 in Greenpoint, and will be available to order in bottles within the week of Aug. 13. Or try it along with the 23 other gold medal-winning beers inside the Horticulture Building at the Great New York State Fair in Syracuse, going on from Aug. 22 to Sept. 3.

Passing Time will be available in bottles soon. ALEXANDER BOHN

'The world is hurt, and we want to create conscience'

Black Eyed Peas member Allan Pineda Lindo told Metro the new album is focused on criticism and social activism.

PATRICIA CARRANZA
letters@metro.us

Almost eight years after their last new album, the Black Eyed Peas are back. They're renewed, without Fergie (who left the band three years ago) and with criticism of war, discrimination and injustice.

Metro recently chatted with star Apl.de.ap on the band's new direction and its new member, Jessica Reynoso.

What went into making the new album?

It seems to me that, with this album, we return a bit to what we did in the first and second ones. It's completely hip-hop, and all the songs have lyrics that bring a message of social criticism and social activism. So we definitely go back to what the Black Eyed Peas previously was.

Why social criticism?

The world is very hurt, and I believe that music is a weapon to create awareness. We are very focused on that. In fact, our first single "Street Livin'," which was released earlier this year, speaks precisely about that. About showing poverty, the damage caused by war, as well as injustices.

Several years have passed since your last album. Why was now the right time for a comeback?

We never really left. We were always present in music, but with separate projects because we are musicians and this is what we do. Creating music is what gives us food. We moved away from the Black Eyed Peas for a while because we wanted to find something new, something to contribute to the world. Now we have enough material prepared, and we want to share it with everyone. Another thing is that we wanted to find a new sound, and I think we found it but without losing Black's essence.

What do you think of some of the artists that have emerged since your last album?

I love The Weeknd. It's a time when digital platforms have managed to bring many artists success, and I find it incredible. In general, I love all kinds of [music] and I am always open to listening to emerging artists, I love it.

What do you think of reggaeton?

I love it. It seems an extraordinary genre. As a musician, I can tell you it gives you opportunity to make a lot of variations and merges. I think you can explore a lot with that genre and at the same time merge it with urban music like hip-hop and rap. It's amazing!

Who would you like to collaborate with?

We would like to work with Coldplay, Stevie Wonder, and why not with some reggaeton artist who would put that flavor to our songs? I would like that very much.

What's next for the band?

To offer a spectacular show and present all our new record material. It's something completely new. We're also going to have new people like Jessica Reynoso, who puts in her voice, who is also part of this new album and will sing with us on this tour.

'Ballers' star Rob Corddry on the Rock's sex appeal

Ahead of season 4's debut, the comic actor discusses working with Dwayne Johnson on the hit HBO series.

ANDREW HUSBAND
letters@metro.us

When "Ballers" star Rob Corddry is approached by a fan, he generally knows what they're going to ask him about based on several profiles he has developed over the years.

"If they're 60 to 70-year-old Alan Alda types with NPR tote bags and round eyeglasses, they're usually asking about 'The Daily Show.' But 'Ballers' is tougher," he laughs. "The people who most often come up to me on the street and say something about 'Ballers' are women, which surprised me at first. It didn't strike me as a show that females would like."

The "Hot Tub Time Machine" actor doesn't possess the numbers to prove this, but he's pretty sure he knows why all these women watch the program. "I think the Rock is very appealing to women. He's appealing to everyone," says Corddry, "but I imagine the women like him very much as well."

For the past three seasons, Corddry and Dwayne "The Rock" Johnson have played sports financial consultants Joe Krutel and Spencer Strasmore in "Entourage" and "Boardwalk Empire" alum Stephen Levinson's "Ballers." In season four, which premieres this Sunday on HBO, the pair attempts to recuperate season three's losses by delving into the world of extreme sports.

Throughout the series, Spencer and Joe have had what Corddry describes as a "push and pull" relationship, professionally and otherwise. Sometimes they're on the same page, sometimes not. Now that they're trying to come out on top this season, the partners are working together as uniformly as possible. As the Corddry notes, he prefers it this way for a particular reason.

"Ballers" season 4 debuts this weekend. ALL PHOTOS HBO

"I like acting with Dwayne. I like hanging out with him. He's fun to be on set with," he says. "If our characters are at odds, that usually means I'm going to have scenes with somebody else and our storylines will veer away from each other. So if I had chosen one path, I like it when we're a team working together rather than not."

Joe and Spencer's story is one of many aspects of "Ballers" that Corddry, who considers himself an avid football fan, appreciates. He also acknowledges the depths Levinson and the writers go to infuse the show with such human elements.

Crunching numbers doesn't hold his interest, even when "Ballers" fans who are interested in such details approach him.

"They want to talk stats," he says. "I'm a big, big football fan, but I don't remember who scored the most points on the ground for the Rams. I'm more into the drama and romance of a football game, the poetry of it. I've actually had a couple of sports financial

"Numbers and stats and weird obscure things do not a good story make," Corddry adds with a laugh. Even so, he recognizes the importance of the subject material to the core of the "Ballers" story, as well as the effect it has had on his wife's understanding of sports.

"My wife, who can't stand sports, was watching a football game with me, and the guy did a flip over the endzone," he recalls. "Just from having watched 'Ballers,' and what she absorbed from it, my wife went, 'You're going to do a flip in the endzone? Come on, you're making 10 over 7!' And I just fell more in love with her at that moment."

The summer of Glen Powell continues. NETFLIX

The summer of Glen Powell

The actor's big year continues "The Guernsey Literary and Potato Peel Pie Society" on Netflix.

GREGORY WAKEMAN
Gregory.Wakeman@metro.us

It's been a pretty great summer for Glen Powell.

Back in June, "Set It Up" was released to critical acclaim and has since generated a devout online following. Powell was also in the running to star opposite Tom Cruise in "Top Gun 2," only to lose the role to Miles Teller. However, Powell once again proved he is the new nicest guy in Hollywood by impressing Cruise so much that he's in negotiations to star in a role created for him in the sequel.

The summer of Powell continues this week with "The Guernsey Literary and Potato Peel Pie Society." Powell plays Lily James' love interest in the romantic 1946-set dramedy that tells the story of a London-based writer exchanging letters with a reading group based in Guernsey, the remote British island that was under German occupation during World War II. We caught up with Powell to talk about the film.

What did you think of the script and your character, Mark Reynolds?

What is interesting is that Mike Newell was the magnet that drew everyone to this movie. Obviously the script was incredible — Tom Bezucha wrote an amazing script off an amazing book. But, really, Mike Newell has been a hero of mine for a while. So he was the reason I signed on. Obviously getting to kiss Lily James for an entire movie was a selling point in itself. There was a lot of great things starring in this movie. Obviously, being the lone American in a British cast was awesome because I had never worked with the Brits in this way. It is a very different experience, and I liked that, for the most part.

Mark is likeable in the film. Did you feel any pressure to make him unlikable?

I think as a person I am likable, just not likable enough.

That is a very harsh way of describing yourself.

My mom says that to me all the time. She says, "It's good. You'll work. You'll get work. You're likable enough. But not likable where you'll get to be the hero." I was like, "Mom, you're really mean. I need to move." The great part about Mark is that he is completely righteous. What I looked at when it came to the quest for love was, because someone is a great person doesn't mean they are a great fit. Two sides of the heart don't always complete each other in a way. And Mark is a guy that strives to show her the world and wants to give her anything and show her off and introduce her to incredible and accomplished people.

But that is not what she wants. She wants to struggle. She wants to be a starving artist. She needs someone who has seen and who views themselves the same way as she does. And that is who Darcy is in this movie. The fact is I have never looked and never will view them as the villains because I feel that very few people on this planet, no matter how many horrible things they do, view themselves as the villain.

"The Guernsey Literary and Potato Peel Pie Society" debuts on Netflix Aug. 10.

SPORTS

After being swept by the Red Sox, things are tense around the Bronx.

JOE PANTORNO
joseph.pantorno@metro.us

Things aren't looking so peachy in the Bronx after the New York Yankees were swept in a four-game series by the Boston Red Sox. Now sitting 9.5 games back in the American League East, the Yankees might have to relegate their postseason hopes to a Wild Card berth as fans all over social media are woefully lamenting how bad their team is.

Entering Monday night, the Yankees still had the third-best record in all of baseball.

And there is another MLB franchise in New York that is actually bad.

The Yankees have been playing under-.500 ball for almost a month. GETTY IMAGES

So some of these spoiled Yankees fans need to count their blessings.

But it is understandable as to why there are some nifty demerits hovering around 161st Street.

Entering the series against the Red Sox last week, the Yankees held a six-game lead for the first AL Wild Card spot on Aug. 1 over the Seattle Mariners and Oakland Athletics.

While the Mariners have faltered a bit, the Athletics are the hottest team in the majors with six-straight wins. They sit just one game behind the Yankees in the win column and 2.5 games back in the standings.

Seattle is just 2.5 games behind Oakland for a spot in the one-game playoff, which makes New York's standing as comfortable playoff participants far less sturdy.

With the remaining question marks surrounding the Yankees roster, doubts might not subside either.

Starting pitching remains a huge question mark even after the acquisitions of J.A. Happ and Lance Lynn. Happ is on the disabled list with hand, foot and mouth disease, stopping him from providing any kind of support for the struggling Luis Severino and inconsistent Masahiro Tanaka and CC Sabathia.

Aroldis Chapman's meltdown against the Red Sox on Sunday in which he blew a three-run lead in the ninth could have some calling his role as closer into question. The flamethrowing lefty is averaging 4.7 walks per nine innings, not a good number for a man tasked to shut down the opposition in the final inning.

With Aaron Judge recovering from a wrist injury and Gary Sanchez's heinous season put on hold for a quick trip to the disabled list as well, New York's offense has looked pedestrian at times. In the last three games against the Red Sox, New York scored a combined six runs.

Luckily for the Bronx Bombers, their schedule might bail them out of any real danger.

Of the 30 MLB franchises, the Yankees have the second-easiest remaining schedule as their opponents average a measly .465 winning percentage. With 52 games remaining that will give New York plenty of opportunities to beat up on some weaker opponents, even though it has a tendency to play down to lesser teams.

Regardless,

the next month will provide the Yankees with a golden opportunity to secure a playoff spot with plenty of time to spare. The next time the Yankees play a team with a winning record, it will be Sept. 3 when they travel to Oakland to play the Athletics in a series that could have huge ramifications on the AL Wild Card Game.

Jets could start Darnold Week 1

The Jets rookie has apparently shown a lot in his few days at training camp.

joseph.pantorno@metro.us

New York Jets rookie quarterback Sam Darnold hasn't been a pro for long but there is a legitimate possibility that he could be the team's starting quarterback come Week 1 of the regular season.

According to ESPN's Adam Schefter, Darnold has a "very fair shot" to be the man under center come opening night in Detroit.

The 21-year-old USC product, selected third overall at the 2018 draft, is in competition with veteran Josh McCown and Teddy Bridgewater for the job despite a short holdout that saw him arrive at training camp three days late due to a contract dispute. The two sides resolved things on Jul. 30 with Darnold signing a four-year, $30.25 million deal.

In that short amount of time, Darnold has gone from a safe bet as clipboard-holder on the sidelines in 2018 to viable competitor for the starting job.

The Jets job was expected to be a two-horse race between McCown and Bridgewater this season, both veterans playing under one-year contracts.

McCown, who has been a perennial backup for most of his career, exceeded all expectations last year with the best season of his 15-year-career. The 38-year-old recorded career bests in passing yards (2,926), touchdowns (18) and completion percentage (67.3%).

On a team that was expected to win one or two games in 2017, McCown helped lead the Jets to five in their first 13 games before his year was cut short due to a broken hand.

Injuries have been far more familiar to Bridgewater, who is 13 years younger than McCown. The 25-year-old once looked to be the future of the Minnesota Vikings franchise after a Pro Bowl season in 2015.

A gruesome leg injury though not just halted his development as a star in the NFL, but it called his career into question as he has attempted just two passes over the past two years.

Darnold comes in as the face of the future in New York as many believed he was the best quarterback available in the 2018 draft. While there have been some concerns about his game, especially when it comes to turnovers, he is seen as a quintessential drop-back passer that could provide the Jets with stability at a position that has been anything but over the past four or five decades.

The Jets must be liking what they're seeing though if they are already willing to say he has a shot at getting the starting job. Obviously, a decision won't be made until real game action is seen. The Jets begin their pre-season on Friday against the Atlanta Falcons at MetLife Stadium.
